

PJ LIBRARY COMES TO TEMPLE AVODAH

SIGN UP TO RECEIVE FREE JEWISH CHILDREN’S BOOKS & MUSIC !

Temple Avodah is thrilled to launch Pj Library in Oceanside and surrounding communities made possible through the generosity of the Amanda Rose Kanowitz Children’s Library Fund at Temple Avodah. Families with children 6 months through 8 years of age who are interested in exploring Jewish life are invited to sign up. Pj Library at Temple Avodah is a one-book-per-family program. If you have more than one eligible child, you will need to select the appropriate books. On the attached sign-up form, circle only one choice from the book categories described below for your family to share. Please select carefully – once made, your choice is final.

Apples & Honey (ages 6 months to 2 years) – simple pictures and concepts, often in the form of sturdy board books

Bagels & Lox (ages 2 to 3) – books with eye-catching illustrations, predictable language and action

Challah Toast (ages 3 to 4) – slightly longer stories with predictable plots and more detailed illustrations

Dates & Almonds (ages 4 to 5) – longer stories with more advanced vocabulary and character development

Egg Matzoh (ages 5 to 6) – more nuanced stories including fantasy, folktales, Bible stories, and realistic fiction connecting to children’s daily lives

Falafel (ages 6 to 7) – imaginative storylines imbued with rich language, featuring folklore and tales from different time periods

Gefilte Fish (ages 7 to 8) – increasingly complex stories with plots that twist and turn; some picture-book biographies and engaging historical fiction

Hamantaschen (through age 8) – more sophisticated narratives to encourage meaningful discussion with older children; some historical fiction and story collections
